DEALERS IN UPLAND GAME BIRDS

Compiled in the Division of Wildlife Research

The following list of dealers in upland game birds, including ornamental pheasants, has been compiled for the information of correspondents. The inclusion of names implies no endorsement as to quality and prices of stock handled. Names have been listed on the basis of information submitted in questionnaires circulated by the Service. When the list is revised names of other dealers will be added if requests therefor show that sufficiently large stocks are carried to warrant inclusion.

The names of dealers are arranged alphabetically for each State, and a cross (X) opposite a dealer's name indicates the item handled. The column listing dealers in ring-necked pheasants includes also those handling Chinese ring-necks. This list is restricted to dealers handling pheasants (including ornamental varieties), quails, partridges, grouse, and wild turkeys. Supplementary lists of dealers in prairie chickens, sage hens, ptarmigans, chachalacas, and tinamous, are available upon request.

The Federal Government does not issue permits to hold, propagate, or sell any of the birds herein listed, as they are considered nonmigratory species and consequently fall under State jurisdiction. It would therefore be advisable for all present and prospective breeders to obtain from their respective State game commissions information on regulations and permits relative to the propagation and sale of upland game birds. The offices of State game commissions are usually located at State capitols.

It is recommended that persons desiring to obtain breeding stock purchase it preferably from dealers operating in their own or in neighboring States in order that the birds may be better acclimated to the area; this will also reduce shipping losses.
